Invitation to a "Dynasty" - themed cocktail party

The Pediatricians Toolkit posters featured illustrations and tips for children's health.

FALL GREETINGS from Stephen Burdick Design! We've received new business and returning customers, and were honored by awards for our work. These projects and more can be viewed online at www.stephenburdickdesign.com, and some print samples are available on request. Here's the latest:

A GLAMOUROUS AFFAIR: Webster & Company, an interior design showroom, hired us to design an invitation to their open house event, using the theme of the '80s TV show "Dynasty." Guests were requested to dress as their favorite character from the show. Response was glittering!

WHAT'S ON THE WALLS? The San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the Physicians for Social Responsibility came to us to develop colorful, illustrated posters based on the concepts presented in their Pediatricians' Toolkit that we helped develop in 2003. The Toolkit educates doctors and patients with advice on avoiding environmental toxins around the home and garden that can impact children's developmental health. The posters include tips for better health in English and Spanish. They were introduced at a recent training event with reprints of the existing materials presented in handsome totebags.

"Steve: Thanks largely to your FABULOUS materials, it was a great event. The bags were essential ... they were filled to the brim and made it possible to distribute everything. Also, people LOVE the posters. Thanks again!"
- Michelle Gottlieb, GBPSR

The Toolkit has also received endorsement from the American Academy of Pediatrics, which enables the materials to reach a wider audience!

INVITING GRAPHICS: The Boston Design Center returned to us for design of their fall seminar materials. The project included "e-vite" graphics (invitations sent by email), brochures to identify new products in the showrooms, and directional graphics between events.

SITES ALIVE: We've made updates to the website we developed for Project Place. Incorporating photos, and event info with new pages for their GateHouse campaign, reporting on the progress of a new facility in Boston's South End. Make a donation to them today at www.projectplace.org!
